Giant Convoys Said to Enter Mediterranean

Africa, but claimed that the Axis would be able to break up Allied communication lines across the Mediterranean. The British broke the Nazi communication lines to North Africa.

"The British and Americans might succeed in landing in southern Europe, but would not have the slightest chance of success against millions of Axis troops."

INVASION FEARED

Simultaneous reports reached Madrid from France that the Italian stepping stone island of Pantelleria in the Sicilian narrows had been placed under a state of urgent alarm as invasion forces gripped the island, as well as Sicily and Sardinia.

Pantelleria was shelled by British warships twice within 48 hours Sunday and Tuesday and a dispatch from George Palmer, British United Press correspondent with the Mediterranean fleet, said the bombardments carried "considerable damage." He was unable to elaborate.

The L. Line reports said the "larger of the two convoys carried 75 merchantmen" and sailed directly from the Atlantic ocean, the other, comprising 25 merchantmen, sailed from Gibraltar.

While 18 merchantmen were reported at anchor in Gibraltar harbor last Monday, a L. Line dispatch said only a few convoys, one cruiser and some destroyers remained there after the evacuation.

ALARM IN PANTELLERIA

Pantelleria, midway between Tunisia and Sicily, was placed under urgent alarm following Sunday night's naval bombardment.

A permanent state of readiness against to follow with all garrisons standing to, the Madrid report said. Madrid also reported that the Italian fleet was ready to put to sea immediately to guard Italian shores against an invasion.

Pantelleria has been bombarded twice in the 24 hours since the sea three times since the fall of Tunisia. It always has been considered one of the most important of the sea three times since the fall of Tunisia. It always has been considered one of the most important of the sea three times since the fall of Tunisia.

However, the light opposition encountered by the warships and planes in their recent attacks indicated that the Italian fleet has been at least partly neutralized by the weight of bombs and shells.

Madrid quoted French reports that Pantelleria's virtual capture would mean no ship could reach there and air communication would be cut. Submarine attacks against the island, it was said.

Poultry Breeders Donate to Auction

The Commercial Egg and Poultry Producers Association has donated a large number of poultry to the auction sale to be conducted to the Market Square on Wednesday.

Turkey, chickens, ducks and geese and a large quantity of eggs were included in the donation, and persons looking for non-seasonal food supplies will have the opportunity of stocking up their larders and also doing a good turn to the children of Britain.

An appeal is made by the committee in charge of the donation, to householders to donate any article of value in the home.

Minister in Host Department Heads

Mrs. Lucien Maynard, K.C., attorney-general, and former minister of municipal affairs, was host at a dinner party in the Corona hotel Wednesday when his guests were entertained by the department heads.

At the dinner were: A. B. Scutler, deputy minister of municipal affairs; K. Switzer, law recovery branch; J. W. Judson, law recovery branch; C. M. Macgregor, accountant; and N. Rubicon, supervisor of field services.

had put various stories about the Prime Minister's whereabouts during the past week. On Sunday one Axis report said he had been in Gibraltar for several hours. The next day a dispatch from the L. Line, Spain, said he was reported "somewhere in Africa" after spending 24 hours in Gibraltar.

The Axis assumption apparently was that Mr. Churchill would return to Britain over the Bay of Biscay.

The missing British aircraft were manned by the Canadian crew of the bomber.

Others on the plane included Howard, the noted actor, and Mrs. Hutcheon and her daughter, the following were listed among the passengers.

Alfred T. Chennell, of London, accountant and company director of the Canadian Pacific.

Kenneth Stonehouse, Washington correspondent of Reuters news agency, and his wife.

Mrs. Cecilia Emma LaPlante, a Shell company executive in London.

Francis George Cowling, Gordon Thomas Macdonald, Wilfred Jacobs Berthold, former. Further identification of the last three names was not immediately available.

It was not known whether any of the passengers had a chance to take to rubber life rafts, but it was said that the bodies were found full that the boats could have remained afloat in Tuesday's rough sea.

Mr. Hutcheon was the only daughter of Sir Geoffrey and Lady Clara Hutcheon, a Canadian, born at Almonte, Ont., only son of Dr. and Mrs. J. K. Hutcheon of Montreal, who serves in the Royal Air Force.

Arrangements had been made for welcoming Mrs. Hutcheon and her children at Sir Geoffrey Clarke's private street home. Her husband and home were destroyed in the bombing of London.

"We are overwhelmed," said Lady Clara, "by the thought of what we are doing to the war and the new was a great blow to us."

Rev. H. B. Ketchen, named Moderator.

HAMILTON, Ont. June 3.—(CP)—Rev. H. Beverley Ketchen, Hamilton, last night was elected moderator of the Presbyterian Church of Canada at the opening session of the 9th general assembly.

A graduate of the University of Toronto and of Knox College, Dr. Ketchen has been minister of MacNab Street Presbyterian Church here for 27 years. Born and raised on a farm in West County, he is married and has three children.

Mr. Macdonald said extreme inequalities of opportunity in education and the possession of wealth would be the main factors in the future.

Land Battles Loom Air War in Russia Reaches New Pitch

MOSCOW, June 3.—The air war over the Russian front rose to a scale unparalleled since the battle of Britain against the Soviet planes and anti-aircraft batteries shot down 100 planes in 24 hours, suggesting the approach of ground battles that may decide the war in the east.

The tempo of land fighting already quickening and the mid-day communiqué reported the Soviet capture of three towns in a surprise attack west of Kursk and the killing of 2,000 enemy troops in a fierce 24-hour battle that wiped out German gains on the Russian front northwest of Moscow.

The official organ of the Russian Red Press, said 125 Soviet planes were pushing reinforcements ashore by sea at all important harbors along the Baltic and Black seas despite heavy losses exacted by Soviet torpedo planes and coastal artillery. A large number of invasion barges, transports and patrol boats were sunk by Soviet bombers in attacks on German lines.

NEW YORK, June 3.—Intriguing indeed is Vince DiMaggio's valiant effort to uphold the baseball prestige of his family while brothers Joe and Dominic are in service.

Vince, now 28, had been merely a "walk-on" in the diamond drama until this season—a performer obscured by the brilliance of his younger brothers, the lads to whom he taught the game in San Francisco.

But Vince, centre fielder of the pirates, is out after records now. Previously he was content to mosey along in mediocrity. He never expected the success of Joe and Dom, respectively. He was gratified that his outlander brothers could bring such fame to the Italian family of Fishermen's Wharf. . . .

AFTER BATTING RECORDS
Went down out of the game now, Vince feels that it's up to him to sustain the family prestige that they built up. That's why he said last night, "I'm out after records this season." He told it over the telephone from Pittsburgh.

That's why 30-year-old Vince is tied for the major league lead in two batting department—the same Vince who plays with difficulty hitting major league pitcher—the same Vince who in 1950 established an all-time major record for strikeouts, 134. He is the son, the year after brother Joe of the Yankees had won the American circuit home run crown.

Pittsburgh's centrefielder bagged his sixth homer of the season Tuesday, leaving him tied for homers in that department with Charlie Keller of the Yankees. His blow, with two men aboard, brought his run-batted-in total to 30, a figure equaled only by Billy Herman of the Dodgers. DiMaggio's second-inning smash that sent the ball sailing over the Pittsburgh score board contributed mightily to the Pirates' 16-inning victory over the batting Braves.

HOPES TO FINISH SEASON
VINCE probably will be able to play out the season. He is married and has a five-year-old daughter, Joanne Marie. He is in S-A.

Meanwhile, Joe, 28, one of the greatest all-around players in history, is stationed at the Santa Ana (Calif.) air base, training the 2d at the Norfolk (Va.) navy base.

Vince said last night, "I will give me the biggest kick in my career if I can win the National League championship. I've run batted in or for home runs—both of them. But I'll tell you two fellows who would get an even greater kick out of it—Joe and

CANADIAN SPORTSHOTS

By CHARLES EDWARDS

TORONTO, June 3.—(CP)—Before the war the highlight of the Canadian football season was the annual east-west game. For the post-war era one of Canada's greatest grid authorities, P.O. Law, says, "The formation of the inter-sectional league comprising eight teams, from the west and east from the east."

"There won't be any trans-probleming job and hesitating. Dick Carroll of the Montreal Argonauts, 'Air travel will make the difference.'"

Basis for the eight-team league would be the long-established eastern and western interprovincial unions. Ottawa Rough Riders, Toronto Argonauts and Hamilton Tiger-Cats would be the old eastern big four teams. Law says Winnipeg, Edmonton, Regina and probably Calgary would be the western clubs represented. "Somebody has been selling him on the future of Edmonton for Lew Comander."

Winnipeg is one of the biggest boom cities in North America right now. It's the key to the whole northwestern part of the country and that's the part that's being developed now—and will be further developed after the war."

As each of many championship teams, including the current national champion, Regina, and the current western champion, the Winnipeg Blue Bombers, are being developed now—and will be further developed after the war."

Hayman doesn't think war-time football equals the pace-time brand. He says a great future for the Canadian game, however. He said on the route and the United States would be wise to incorporate it into the American game.

"When a team gets ready to punt in American football, the crowd stars reading the papers or yelling for a hot dog," he says. "The crowd knows the ball is going out of bounds and that nothing can happen. Up to here the crowd tense up at that moment, knowing its going to see some exciting action. That's the payoff on the play. If the crowd ever let it out over there, the crowd will go overboard for it."

Dom, I think I've got a good chance; I'm trying harder than ever before, and it seems to have improved my hitting."

Can the all-time strikeout "chump" become a hitting king at 30?—while carrying on for his absent brothers, who are carrying on for Uncle Sam.

Out-Hitting Novikoff

Bill Nicholson Batting Most of Cub's Home Runs

CHICAGO, June 3.—(AP)—Lou Novikoff has been back with the Chicago Cubs a week now since ending his 61-day holdout, and those base hits are really rolling out. But they're off of Bill Nicholson's bat, not Novikoff's.

The said, 200-pound Cub right-fielder, hit at a 410 rate in the first seven days since the mad Russian's return, and has boosted his average from .281 to .310 in this span.

Nicholson, who thinks no baseball season is a success unless he gets at least 20 home runs, went 32 games without a four-bagger this year—and then blossomed out with four in nine times at bat.

During this "hot" period, too, he drove in 10 runs and Tuesday ran his consecutive game hitting string to 10.

Nick has been the Cubs' best home run hitter since he played his first full season in the majors in 1940. He hit 25 homers that year; 20 the next, and 21 last season.

Nicholson was the only Cub outfielder from whom heavy hitting was expected this spring, while Novikoff was holding out. Maybe that's why Nick wasn't hitting—too much pressure—until the Russians signed up and the customers started cheering loudest when Lou came to bat.

Momentarily out of the spotlight, Nicholson began to elicit the ball. He made three hits the day of Novikoff's debut, and slugged on to get 13 hits in 21 times at bat—including those four home runs.

SIX DAYS STARTING FRIDAY

"Sharing my bath and kitchen with two men... THAT drove me nuts!"

It's as crowded with laughs as Washington is with the will to win! It sends your heart pounding into your throat... and just as it's about to pop... you chuckle! It's a tender story of a boy and a girl... with many poignant moments. It's THAT kind of a picture!

World News Highlights Presented in Picture Form.

Less Pleasure Travel Will Mean More Munitions Shipments

In this photo of a crowded station in Ottawa are many civilians and members of the armed forces, some of whom are probably forced by vital and official business to travel on the railways. It is to reduce unnecessary travel, permitting space for those who must journey on wartime business, that the Canadian people have been asked to avoid pleasure trips. Fewer passenger trains will mean more munitions trains.

The railroads of the nation are at war, carrying raw materials and components to munitions factories and vital military supplies from plants to shipping destinations; moving tens of thousands of men and women in uniform, war workers and war production executives. Today, with less equipment and insufficient personnel, the railroads are handling many times the business of the last war. Pictures taken over the past week-end show results of over-crowding on trains and explain why the Canadian public is asked to avoid non-essential trips and unnecessary week-end excursions, especially on the main lines. Vacationists who must travel by train should leave and return on mid-week.

All set for a pleasant vacation, the young man whose feet appear in above photograph is ready for golfing, tennis and other outdoor sports. But he is travelling during a week-end when trains are crowded, making it doubly awkward to accommodate a vacationer loaded down with sports equipment and luggage. That is why the request has been made to holiday seekers to use mid-week trains between Tuesday and Thursday.

Fighter Control Taught in Canada

FL 16298 Fighter control, the system of directing interception of enemy planes which played a tremendous part in the Battle of Britain, is now being taught in Canada. Above is the "ops" room at No. 1 School of Fighter Control at Rockcliffe air station, near Ottawa, where girls training to be operational clerks in the Royal Canadian Air Force Women's Division learn the secrets of fighter control behind locked doors. From the large table map in the foreground, the fighter controller (standing) sees at a glance the number, speed, and route of invading aircraft. Thus, he is in a position to direct his squadrons of Hurricanes and Spitfires to the best point of interception.

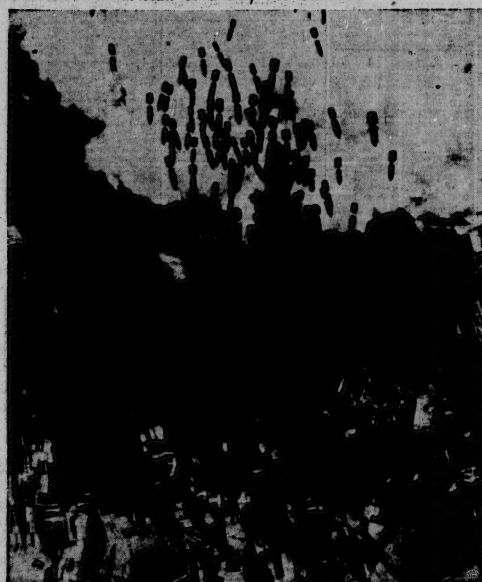

Crowded coaches, men and women of the armed forces standing in the aisles and leaning against the seats; these are the evidences of a railway system overtaxed by passenger traffic when all facilities are strained to provide transportation for tools of war.

These three girls of the Royal Canadian Air Force Women's Division solve the travel problem by crowding in on a seat built for two people. Bound for Montreal on official instructions they have to put up with uncomfortable seats because the railways are carrying more passengers than they are equipped to handle.

A Hail of a Day For Sardinia

As a thousand or more Allied planes blasted the Axis from the North Sea to the Mediterranean, the spectacular photo above was flashed by radio to show the folks back home a closeup of just one dose of the medicine Allied airmen are handing out. It shows a literal hail of bombs plunging toward the Monserrato airfield near Cagliari, capital of Sardinia, as waves of U.S. Flying Fortresses, medium Mitchell and Marauder bombers, accompanied by Lightning and Warhawk fighters, swept over the Italian port.

London Street Scene—1943

London is still taking it in the spring of 1943, for German bombers are still coming over. Strikingly similar to the blitz days of 1940 is the street scene above. Here Nazi night raiders smashed several houses, caused some casualties. Although the Germans don't send over as many planes as before, the bombings still can be bitter, as face of the London woman at left shows. Neighbors are aiding her at scene of her bomb-wrecked home. But Britishers also can smile in the face of these bombings, as proved by the girl at right. One of the Nazi nuisance raids left her home in rubble, but she cheerfully salvages her belongings and keeps her chin up, confident of victory. Yes, London can still take it.

Foe Goes Boom

Blasted out of the water after a brief battle with a U.S. sub, this is the end of a Jap brawler in the Pacific. The sub first tried to sink the enemy vessel with shell fire, but it fought back and had to be finished off with a torpedo.

Ex-Mrs. Rooney

After three previous threats to divorce motion picture star Mickey Rooney, actress Ava Gardner, above, went through with it and obtained a default decree based on cruelty charges. She is pictured in court, where she told the judge: "Mickey didn't need any home life."

Antwerp—Blasted by Yanks' Bombs

Residents of Antwerp, Belgium, through the street to look over devastation wrought by bombs from American planes that blasted the Nazi-held city in a daring daylight raid. German-origin photo was received through a neutral source.
